COLUMBIA, TENN .:

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1860.

The Nashville Banner is fretful over the spirit of disapprobation manifested by the country press and others at the conduct of the caucus legislators. Does not the Banner know that under its own inspirations a party is forming in this county which desideration of our people, by mands, as the principal, if not the only, recommendation of candidates for the State Convention, that they be op-To the Editor of the Banner :

posed to Andrew Johnson? Thus, that paper can see that it gives birth to those very "pestilential fellows," whom it so severely condemns. Johnsonism has nothing to do with the qualification of delegates to the Convention, and the people will have no patience with candidates who make it society or the well being of the State the leading issue of the canvass. The imperiled by any rash or ill-advised experiments set on foot by the "prentice Banner, cordially hating both John-Banner, cordially hating both John-hands" of partisans or demagogues, but son and Democracy, tries to confound the two. Mr. J. no more constitutes the Democratic party than the Banner does the Radical party. He chooses to join that party against Radical oppression, and is lead by it.

Hickman County and the Convention

We understand that there are three candidates in Hickman County for delegate to the State Convention, Maj. Hickman. Maj. Gordon was a member of the State Convention in 1834, and has been identified with State polities for many years. He is a sound, constitutional, State Rights man.
